PUBLISHER'S NOTE

APRIL 2015

In this city where stylish males are commonplace, I have no idea how the editorial team was able to narrow down the field to the six candidates that make up this year's "Men of Style" feature.

I do know that many of our readers and even my own personal friends have volunteered to be part of the vetting process and the annual event surrounding this April volume—the interest is high, I assure you. On April 23, we will celebrate this edition at the stunning sales center and future site of The Ritz-Carlton Residences Miami Beach and honor the dapper individuals in the "MOS" article. For an additional sneak peek at what happened behind the scenes of the shoot, check out NBC-6's segment on nbciami.com. And, for those who didn't make the cut, rest assured that if you're on our editor's radar, there's always next year.

We're heading deep into spring after a whirlwind of successful events. At our most recent one, we brought together the city's top real estate developers for showcases of their projects that gave the hundreds of leading agents, brokers and guests in attendance a glimpse of what these luxury properties have in store through elaborate lifestyle activations. Another real estate event we're extremely proud of pulling off was Viva Miami, an international market panel discussion with realtors Chris Leavitt of Douglas Elliman and Samantha DeBianchi (both made famous by Bravo's Million Dollar Listing Miami) and Katrina Campins (once featured on NBC's The Apprentice) as well as moderators Lindsay Pumpa of L Pumpa Designs and Urban Oasis on HGTV, and Carlos Mariaca, former president and current board member of the Brazilian-American Chamber of Commerce. The chic occasion took place at Landmark Doral, Lennar Homes' new luxury community, and it was a night to remember.

And, speaking of celebrities—of the sports kind—Miami also recently collaborated with the J.W. Marriott Marquis Miami and the Tennis Channel for a Miami Open event where we celebrated some of the sport's top-ranked players as a sort of kick off to the week during which the world-class tournament takes place. Check out our website, modernluxury/miami.com, for a video of the Tennis Channel's coverage of the event.

As the weather heats up, remember to say cool... although, I have to say, that may be hard to do once you flip through this rather hot issue.
